Early life and education

Akin obtained an associate degree in Computer Technologies and Programming from Sakarya University and later earned a bachelor's degree in Business Management from Anadolu University. Prior to his current position at Teknasyon, Akin worked as a front-end developer at various Turkish technology companies, including Hepsiburada, Koding, Markafoni, and Protel. He was also involved in organizing jstanbul, which was the first JavaScript conference held in Turkiye.^[5]

Career

Since 2012, he has delivered talks at various conferences and events internationally. Akin is the creator of the repository "awesome-chatgpt-prompts." which is among the highly starred projects on GitHub, ranking 32nd worldwide with over 143,000 stars.^{[1][6]} He also holds the single-letter GitHub username "f", obtained during the early period of the platform.^{[7][8][9]} In 2013, Akin founded JavaScript Istanbul, a community organization focused on organizing meetups and conferences for web developers in Turkey. He authored the book Modern JavaScript (Modern Java Script: EcmaScript 6 ve Ötesi), which addresses the transition from legacy systems to modern JavaScript frameworks for Turkish-speaking developers.^[10]

In 2026, Akin established Stickker.net, an e-commerce platform based in Turkey that offered developer-themed laptop stickers. The site initially featured more than 250 designs aimed at the developer community and expanded to serve over 17,000 customer both within Turkey and internationally. The business was subsequently sold to StickerMule.^{[11][12]}

Akin is a member of the GitHub Stars program, which acknowledges developers who contribute to educating and supporting the global developer community. He was also appointed as the first Turkey Ambassador for Windurf, an AI-powered development environment. His GitHub profile includes Omelette, a template-based autocompletion tool for Node.js and Deno projects.^{[13][14]}

Akin developed adaptations of the game Wordle for the Turkish, Kurdish, and Ladino languages, which received coverage from Rest of World. The Turkish version was subsequently acquired by Bundle, a Turkish social media application.^{[15][16][17][18][19]}

Developer relations and artificial intelligence

Akin transitioned to a role in Developer Relations (DevRel) at Teknasyon, where he is responsible for technical branding, developer outreach, and supporting the internal engineering culture. In recent years, he has spoken on topics related to generative AI and its effects on software engineering, including delivering keynote presentations at industry events such as DevFest Istanbul.^{[20][21]}

Publications

- Modern JavaScript (2013), is a Turkish-language book published by Dikeyksen Yayıncılık, that covers topics including MVC/MVVM patterns, test-driven development, and Coffeescript.^[22]
- The Interactive Book of Prompting is an online guide available at prompts.chat that discusses prompt engineering techniques and agentic AI systems.^[23]
